

Virginia Department of Social Services
Medicaid Fact Sheet #31
FAMIS Plus

The following information is given as a guideline only. For eligibility for FAMIS Plus to be determined, an application must be filed with the local department of social services in your locality.

FAMIS Plus is Medicaid coverage for children under age 19. The child does not have to be living with a parent or relative.

To be eligible for FAMIS Plus, a child must:

- Be under age 19. The child's date of birth must be provided on the application.
- Be a resident of Virginia. Declaration of Virginia residence will be accepted unless there is reason to question the residence.
- Be a United States citizen or lawful immigrant.
- Have a Social Security number or show proof of application for a Social Security number.
- Have a parent or authorized representative who agrees to assign all rights to medical support and payment of medical care from any third party to the Department of Medical Assistance Services (DMAS). This includes providing identifying information about other health insurance the child has to the eligibility worker. Also, you must notify DMAS if the parent or child receives money meant to cover medical expenses, such as a settlement resulting from a lawsuit, and send DMAS any funds received for medical care that was already paid for by Medicaid.
- Have income below specified levels. The child's income and the income of parents, brothers and sisters and a married teen's spouse may be counted. The eligibility worker will try to verify income using a data match with the Federal Information Hub. If your income cannot be verified through the data match, you will be asked to provide verification, such as a pay stubs or a written statement from the employer. Other income must be verified by an appropriate source.
- Resources, such as bank accounts, cars, etc. are not evaluated when determining a child's eligibility for FAMIS Plus.
